Welcome to the Good Life

What is your Era?

Kempinski

What is a Kempinski Era?

Today's traveller is no longer seeking a fleeting escape. They are seeking something more meaningful — a connection with a place that leaves a lasting impression long after they depart. They are in pursuit of the Good Life, where each moment becomes part of a greater story.

An Era is not a checklist of activities. It is a defining chapter in a guest's journey, shaped by destination, emotion and discovery. By asking one simple question, 'What Era are you in?', Kempinski moves beyond the traditional itinerary and connects with each guest on a more personal level.

In the following pages, our Resident Curator presents a considered collection of insider experiences, thoughtfully tailored to your present mindset. These are not conventional itineraries, but carefully curated pathways offering genuine access to the soul of the destination.

Choose your Era, and experience real access.

Every Kempinski experience is:

Rooted in story and history — Kempinski has always been defined by creating meaningful experiences. From pioneering the aperitif to delivering experiential dining to guests' doors long before it became a norm, the brand has consistently shaped how guests engage with hospitality. Today, each experience reveals the destination as a compelling and authentic story, where every moment contributes to a lasting memory.

Built around access — to authentic local figures, incredible spaces and insider knowledge that cannot be replicated or purchased through a platform. Each experience offers a sense of exclusivity that feels both natural and meaningful.

Authentic — access alone is not enough; it must be real. Every experience remains true to the heritage of the hotel and the essence of the destination, while celebrating the craftspeople, experts and individuals who bring it to life.

Holistic — what unfolds within the destination is reflected within the hotel. Thoughtful and personalised moments ensure that the experience resonates beyond the stay, continuing to unfold long after departure.

Always paired with taste — a reflection of Kempinski's culinary heritage. No experience is complete without something to savour.

Curated — each experience within every Era is thoughtfully designed for the property, grounded in the history of the destination and offered exclusively to our guests.

The Resident Curator

Our Resident Curator serves as the definitive bridge between the guest and the destination. Their purpose is to bring the Good Life to life, both on property and beyond. They design, oversee and personally curate every experience within the Kempinski Era programme, working in close collaboration with a carefully selected network of each destination's most respected Local Insiders.

The Local Insider

Every experience within the Kempinski Era programme is created in partnership with a Local Insider, a master of their craft and a recognised figure within the destination's cultural landscape, whose presence and knowledge elevate each activity into a lasting memory. The Local Insider is not a service provider. They are selected personally by the Resident Curator, each one brings something no hotel can manufacture: authentic expertise, genuine access and a presence that transforms a morning or afternoon into something truly unforgettable.

Meet Munich

Since 1858, Hotel Vier Jahreszeiten Kempinski has been the home of the Good Life in Munich.

Today, we go further. Our Resident Curator has designed three Eras — three distinct ways of experiencing the city, rather than simply visiting it. Each is shaped by genuine access to people, places and experiences that no platform or guidebook can provide.

The only question that remains is: which Era are you in?

Our Resident Curator in Munich

Bastian Zimmermann

A Munich local, Bastian has spent his career as a dramaturge, curator and editor at the intersection of music, performance and contemporary culture. He has collaborated with some of the city's most respected cultural institutions and developed a rare instinct for the people, places and moments that leave a lasting impression. Deeply rooted in Munich's creative community, he offers access to figures and spaces that most visitors would otherwise never encounter.

The Munich Eras

The Royalty Era

For over 165 years, Munich's royalty has chosen Hotel Vier Jahreszeiten Kempinski as their home in the city and as a place to experience the Good Life. The Royalty Era offers access to regal privilege in its purest form. Helicopter flights above Alpine peaks, private access to the most coveted palaces in Germany and encounters that bring dynastic history to life in vivid, breathtaking detail.

The Adventure Era

The pursuit of the Good Life has been part of the hotel's story for generations. Princess Sisi once flooded two floors here simply by taking a bath, a reminder of the spirited intensity that has always defined the place. Today, that same energy is channeled into experiences designed for the present moment. The Adventure Era is about feeling alive and invigorated, from plunging into Alpine waters to matching strides with a World Cup champion first thing in the morning.

The Handmade Era

The finest expressions of the Good Life, then as now, are not mass-produced but made by hand. Munich continues to uphold this tradition, and so do we. Enter your Handmade Era and step behind closed doors into private ateliers, hidden microbreweries and living workshops, where the authentic spirit of Munich is still shaped by hand.

Markus & Vanessa Richter

Most people who study Neuschwanstein do so from a distance. Markus Richter lived within its walls for years while Vanessa dedicated seven years to the study of the Bavarian kings. During this time at the castle, they fell in love with each other. Together, they offer a perspective shaped not only by research but by lived experience and personal connection. The history they share is not simply interpreted, it is drawn from memory, familiarity and a deep understanding of place.
